

Three Tennis Experts Reach Round Before Semi-Finals

Johnson Defeats French With Ease and Faces Voshell To-day; Kumagae Wins From Hanna and Biddle Scores Over Vanneman and Powell

By Fred Hawthorne

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—The Middle States lawn tennis tournament on the Warramaker roof was contested under bitter weather conditions today, a gale of wind sweeping across the courts and snow flurries in the afternoon adding to the general discomfort of players and spectators.

The tournament reached into the third round today, with the semi-finals to be played tomorrow. In the first round, Johnson defeated French with ease, and faces Voshell to-day. Kumagae won from Hanna and Biddle scores over Vanneman and Powell.

Biddle took matters easily, however, well satisfied with his performance for his first round match. Johnson, the old Davis Cup star, for the right to get into the semi-finals, Biddle's first round match was a close one, but in the afternoon the internationalist administered a similar defeat to George Powell, a local man.

Trouble Due To-day Johnson did not seem to lose any control over his baffling chop strokes in his match against Ernest French, despite the young tornado that was blowing and the later did well to get four games for the score reading 6-2, 6-1. To-morrow Johnson is certain to have an easy time with Lieutenant S. Howard Voshell, national indoor champion, who recently left the aviation service, is very shy of practice, but in every match this week he has shown improvement and his natural speed and strong volleying game should beat Johnson's tricky shots of the string.

Kumagae, smiling the same smile that made him a favorite with American players and spectators all over this broad land, bobbed up on the roof this afternoon, done up in a white jacket, and his natural courtship was with him. After peering cautiously over the edge of the roof and estimating the distance to the street, he and his countrymen climbed into the tennis clubhouse and started warming up.

H. W. Hanna was the Philadelphia offering on the sacrificial altar and Kumagae did the trick in straight sets by a score of 6-2, 6-1. After the first members of the gallery were watching for a demonstration of Kumagae's famous "loop drive," but the son of Nippon never made use of it, either before or after the match. He was more formidable, however, in his backhand, and he was a formidable opponent, or perhaps because he feared the consequences if the ball should get beyond his control and drop off the roof into the street.

Kumagae is another player who needs a whole lot more practice before he reaches his real form. He will probably face Vincent Richards, the national boy champion, to-morrow afternoon, and it is within the range of possibilities that the boy may surprise the Japanese to defeat. It is a question of the possibilities of Richards, who is a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Tilden and Herbert F. Dornheim, his partner in the holding of the state championship, played their match at a time when the Arctic blast was blowing their hardest, and it was a battle of wits and nerves. Tilden played the first half of the match in his heavy army overcoat, and with a heavy army glove on his right hand, and he was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Kashin, playing against Lieutenant H. L. Gombert, surprised the gallery by winning the match at 6-0, 6-0. With a very soft, deceptive game but a wonderful court cover and skilled placement, Kashin never gave the American a chance. He made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble.

Harold Taylor, national junior champion, had a nip and tuck match against H. L. Gombert, a U. of P. student, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Sirocco Wins Feature Event On Cuba Track

Hodge and Hamilton A. Set a Fast Pace, But Are Outclassed by Winner

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 18.—Kay Sirocco's victory made his reappearance this afternoon at Oriental Park in the Panama Handicap, and considering his long absence, he made an excellent showing, running close up with some good sprinters over the five and a half furlong course. The race to-day was in the nature of a public trial for the Independence Handicap, in which Sirocco and Deekmate are also engaged.

Hodge, which carried top weight, gave sixteen pounds to G. L. Fitzgerald's Sirocco, the winner, who was making his second start here. Hamilton A. cut out the running with a neck back, but the pair set a hot pace three lengths ahead of Sirocco.

Entering the home stretch Hodge was clinging close, Sirocco, going to the outside, came like a whirlwind and was leading at the sixteenth pole, going away by two lengths from Tippler, which was half a length before Hamilton A. Hodge was beaten for third place by three lengths and appeared to be pulled up at the finish, but showed no signs of lameness.

George W. Loft's horses, including Deekmate, winner of the President Memorial Handicap, will be sold at auction on Saturday. Trainer Max Hirsch is returning to the states.

Great Lakes Station For Water Polo Meet

The national water polo championship tournament will in all likelihood be conducted by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in connection with the dedication of its new clubhouse next month. This rich series was sought by two other clubs, the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco, and the Chicago Athletic Association.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

The national water polo championship tournament will in all likelihood be conducted by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in connection with the dedication of its new clubhouse next month. This rich series was sought by two other clubs, the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco, and the Chicago Athletic Association.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national championship committee, has put the matter to a mail vote. In his letter to the committee Rubien recommended that the Great Lakes Station be awarded the championship, and it is almost a certainty that his suggestion will be accepted.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Harold Taylor, the national junior singles tennis champion, who eliminated Bart Pfingst, of the University of Pennsylvania, in a singles first round match at Philadelphia yesterday. Taylor played a brilliant net game.

Yanks Hear New Camp Is a Wonder

Phil Schenck Reports Playing Field Is of Real Major League Calibre

By W. J. Macbeth

Phil Schenck, the landscape architect of the Yankees, who was sent South a week ago to prepare the playing field for Miller Huggins's band, has sent to Business Manager Sparrow a very sanguine report. Phil declares he has discovered the first major league playing field it ever has been in prospecting south of the Mason and Dixon line.

The field in question, you may know, is situated in or near the city of Jacksonville, Fla., which boasts two spring camps, the other of which will be utilized by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Miller Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location. But that of Huggins's park is to have it on that of Huggins's in location.

Briergate Beauty Victor In Test of Airedales

Tweak 'Em Proves Best Dog in the Contest Among Fox Terriers

The Airedales and the wire-haired fox terriers shared the honors at the Winter Garden on the roof of the Metropolitan Hotel yesterday.

All of the dogs being in town for the big show today, to say nothing of being in the condition, thought that they might as well get together and hold their specially shows and have it over with.

Both breeds were well represented, but the fact that none of the dogs from the Canoe Kennels, owned by Mrs. Roy Haines, was present for the contest was a pity. The Major Harrier show for two consecutive years. And then he met G. L. Davis's champion Briergate Beauty, and it proved to be his Waterloo.

Shaw McKean, just back from the West, was the only dog to be honored among the dogs in the fox terrier competition. With Prude's Fox Tweak 'Em he was placed first in winners, and the dog was won by his Ridgewood Park Boy.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

There was no final special competition, so Gallaich Nettle remained undefeated in the weaker sex. She won for her owner, Major Harrier, Hughes, a feeding Miss J. G. Hinkle's Fox Tweak 'Em Sweetbriar Perfection.

The tournament reached into the third round today, with the semi-finals to be played tomorrow. In the first round, Johnson defeated French with ease, and faces Voshell to-day. Kumagae won from Hanna and Biddle scores over Vanneman and Powell.

Biddle took matters easily, however, well satisfied with his performance for his first round match. Johnson, the old Davis Cup star, for the right to get into the semi-finals, Biddle's first round match was a close one, but in the afternoon the internationalist administered a similar defeat to George Powell, a local man.

Trouble Due To-day Johnson did not seem to lose any control over his baffling chop strokes in his match against Ernest French, despite the young tornado that was blowing and the later did well to get four games for the score reading 6-2, 6-1. To-morrow Johnson is certain to have an easy time with Lieutenant S. Howard Voshell, national indoor champion, who recently left the aviation service, is very shy of practice, but in every match this week he has shown improvement and his natural speed and strong volleying game should beat Johnson's tricky shots of the string.

Kumagae, smiling the same smile that made him a favorite with American players and spectators all over this broad land, bobbed up on the roof this afternoon, done up in a white jacket, and his natural courtship was with him. After peering cautiously over the edge of the roof and estimating the distance to the street, he and his countrymen climbed into the tennis clubhouse and started warming up.

H. W. Hanna was the Philadelphia offering on the sacrificial altar and Kumagae did the trick in straight sets by a score of 6-2, 6-1. After the first members of the gallery were watching for a demonstration of Kumagae's famous "loop drive," but the son of Nippon never made use of it, either before or after the match. He was more formidable, however, in his backhand, and he was a formidable opponent, or perhaps because he feared the consequences if the ball should get beyond his control and drop off the roof into the street.

Kumagae is another player who needs a whole lot more practice before he reaches his real form. He will probably face Vincent Richards, the national boy champion, to-morrow afternoon, and it is within the range of possibilities that the boy may surprise the Japanese to defeat. It is a question of the possibilities of Richards, who is a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Tilden and Herbert F. Dornheim, his partner in the holding of the state championship, played their match at a time when the Arctic blast was blowing their hardest, and it was a battle of wits and nerves. Tilden played the first half of the match in his heavy army overcoat, and with a heavy army glove on his right hand, and he was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Kashin, playing against Lieutenant H. L. Gombert, surprised the gallery by winning the match at 6-0, 6-0. With a very soft, deceptive game but a wonderful court cover and skilled placement, Kashin never gave the American a chance. He made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble.

Harold Taylor, national junior champion, had a nip and tuck match against H. L. Gombert, a U. of P. student, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

The tournament reached into the third round today, with the semi-finals to be played tomorrow. In the first round, Johnson defeated French with ease, and faces Voshell to-day. Kumagae won from Hanna and Biddle scores over Vanneman and Powell.

Biddle took matters easily, however, well satisfied with his performance for his first round match. Johnson, the old Davis Cup star, for the right to get into the semi-finals, Biddle's first round match was a close one, but in the afternoon the internationalist administered a similar defeat to George Powell, a local man.

Trouble Due To-day Johnson did not seem to lose any control over his baffling chop strokes in his match against Ernest French, despite the young tornado that was blowing and the later did well to get four games for the score reading 6-2, 6-1. To-morrow Johnson is certain to have an easy time with Lieutenant S. Howard Voshell, national indoor champion, who recently left the aviation service, is very shy of practice, but in every match this week he has shown improvement and his natural speed and strong volleying game should beat Johnson's tricky shots of the string.

Kumagae, smiling the same smile that made him a favorite with American players and spectators all over this broad land, bobbed up on the roof this afternoon, done up in a white jacket, and his natural courtship was with him. After peering cautiously over the edge of the roof and estimating the distance to the street, he and his countrymen climbed into the tennis clubhouse and started warming up.

H. W. Hanna was the Philadelphia offering on the sacrificial altar and Kumagae did the trick in straight sets by a score of 6-2, 6-1. After the first members of the gallery were watching for a demonstration of Kumagae's famous "loop drive," but the son of Nippon never made use of it, either before or after the match. He was more formidable, however, in his backhand, and he was a formidable opponent, or perhaps because he feared the consequences if the ball should get beyond his control and drop off the roof into the street.

Kumagae is another player who needs a whole lot more practice before he reaches his real form. He will probably face Vincent Richards, the national boy champion, to-morrow afternoon, and it is within the range of possibilities that the boy may surprise the Japanese to defeat. It is a question of the possibilities of Richards, who is a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Tilden and Herbert F. Dornheim, his partner in the holding of the state championship, played their match at a time when the Arctic blast was blowing their hardest, and it was a battle of wits and nerves. Tilden played the first half of the match in his heavy army overcoat, and with a heavy army glove on his right hand, and he was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Kashin, playing against Lieutenant H. L. Gombert, surprised the gallery by winning the match at 6-0, 6-0. With a very soft, deceptive game but a wonderful court cover and skilled placement, Kashin never gave the American a chance. He made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble, and he made Tilden tremble.

Harold Taylor, national junior champion, had a nip and tuck match against H. L. Gombert, a U. of P. student, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

Taylor, who was a very good player, and who is a very good player, and who is a very good player.

The tournament reached into the third round today, with the semi-finals to be played tomorrow. In the first round, Johnson defeated French with ease, and faces Voshell to-day. Kumagae won from Hanna and Biddle scores over Vanneman and Powell.

Biddle took matters easily, however, well satisfied with his performance for his first round match. Johnson, the old Davis Cup star, for the right to get into the semi-finals, Biddle's first round match was a close one, but in the afternoon the internationalist administered a similar defeat to George Powell, a local man.

Trouble Due To-day Johnson did not seem to lose any control over his baffling chop strokes in his match against Ernest French, despite the young tornado that was blowing and the later did well to get four games for the score reading 6-2, 6-1. To-morrow Johnson is certain to have an easy time with Lieutenant S. Howard Voshell, national indoor champion, who recently left the aviation service, is very shy of practice, but in every match this week he has shown improvement and his natural speed and strong volleying game should beat Johnson's tricky shots of the string.

Kumagae, smiling the same smile that made him a favorite with American players and spectators all over this broad land, bobbed up on the roof this afternoon, done up in a white jacket, and his natural courtship was with him. After peering cautiously over the edge of the roof and estimating the distance to the street,